Explanation of Forms of Benefits

(This description is not a substitute for the detailed definitions and explanations set forth in the Pension Plan. It is merely a summary of the forms of benefits available under that Plan. Please review the Statement of Estimated Benefits provided to you for a comparison of the value of each form of benefit available to you to the value of your benefit in the Single Life form. That Statement will also indicate which of the Joint and Survivor forms is your qualified Joint and Survivor benefit, if you are married.)

Qualified Joint and Survivor Form

If you are married at the time you retire and apply for benefits, the 50% Joint and Survivor Annuity is your Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity form (the form of pension you will automatically receive unless you choose one of the other options and your spouse consents). Under the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity form, a benefit is payable to you each month for the rest of your life, and if your spouse survives you, your spouse will receive the corresponding percentage of the amount you have been receiving for the rest of your spouse's life.

Depending on the last day you were active and the Joint and Survivor benefit that is your Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity, the monthly benefit may be reduced from the Single Life form. The amount of the reduction, if any, is based on your age, your spouse's age and the date your benefits commence, and it accounts for the fact that the Fund is obligated to pay the corresponding percentage of benefits to your spouse after your death if your spouse is still living then.

Once benefits commence under the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity form, neither you nor your spouse may change the form and no event such as a divorce, death or remarriage will affect the terms of payment unless your spouse dies before you. If your spouse died before you, your benefit will be recalculated in the Single Life benefit form using the benefit formula that was in effect at the time you retired, plus any benefit adjustments for retirees effective on or after that date, and you will receive benefits in the amount and form of the rest of your life.

Optional Joint and Survivor Forms

If you are married at the time you retire and apply for benefits, the Optional Joint and Survivor benefit options are the 75% or 100%, which are not your Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity benefit, as described above, are optional Joint and Survivor forms. These forms, with the exception of the 50% are not available to you unless your spouse consents to your waiver of the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity form. Under an optional Joint and Survivor form, a benefit is payable to you each month for the rest of your life, and if your spouse survives you, your spouse will receive the corresponding percentage of the amount you have been receiving for the rest of your spouse's life.

Depending on the last day you were active and the Joint and Survivor benefit that is your Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity benefit, the monthly benefit may be reduced from the Single Life form. The amount of the reduction, if any, is based on your age, your spouse's age and the date your benefits commence, and it accounts for the fact that the Fund is obligated to pay the corresponding percentage of benefits to your spouse after your death if your spouse is still living then.

Once benefits commence under an optional Joint and Survivor form, neither you nor your spouse may change the form and no event such as a divorce, death or remarriage will affect the terms of payment unless your spouse dies before you. If your spouse dies before you, your benefit will be recalculated in the Single Life benefit form using the benefit formula that was in effect at the time you retired, plus any benefit adjustments for retirees effective on or after that date, and you will receive benefits in that amount and form for the rest of your life.

Single Life Form

The Single Life benefit form is payable each month for the rest of your life after retirement. It does not have the possibility of continuing monthly payments to somebody else after your death, which all of the other four options have. As explained above, if you are married at the time your benefits are to commence, the Single Life form is not available to you unless your spouse consents to your waiver of the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity form. Once benefits commence under the Single Life form, the form of benefit cannot be cancelled or changed.

Life-Ten Year Certain Form

Under the Life-Ten Year Certain Benefit form, a reduced benefit is payable to you each month for the rest of your life. If you die before you have received 120 payments (ten years' worth), the person you designate as your beneficiary will receive the benefit each month until the total number of benefit payments made to you and your beneficiary is 120. The amount of reduction depends on your age at the time your benefits commence. If your benefits commence before you qualify for normal or unreduced early retirement benefits, then your monthly pension benefit would be first reduced by the appropriate factor based on your age at the time benefits commence. You may change your designated beneficiary at any time before 120 monthly payments have been made; but, if you were married at the time you retired, your spouse must consent in writing to your designation of a new beneficiary. Should your beneficiary die before you have received 120 monthly payments, you may designate a new beneficiary, subject to your spouse's consent, if applicable. Should both you and your beneficiary die before 120 monthly payments have been made, the commuted value of the remaining payments required to reach a total of 120 will be calculated and paid in a lump sum to one or more of your relatives designated in the Pension Plan or to your estate. If you are married at the time your benefits are to commence, the Life-Ten Year Certain form is not available to you unless your spouse consents to your waiver of the Qualified Joint and Survivor form. Once benefits commence under the Life-Ten Year Certain form, it cannot be cancelled or changed.

ALL OF THE FORMS OF BENEFITS EXPLAINED ABOVE ARE SUBJECT TO THE PLAN'S SUSPENSION OF BENEFIT PROVISION, AS DESCRIBED IN THE SUMMARY PLAN DESCRIPTION.

“Return to Work” Provision

These are the provisions of the Pension Plan Governing Suspension of Pension Benefits for returning to work at the Bricklayers’ Trade. Under these provisions, Pension Benefits being paid to retired participants may be suspended only if ALL of the following conditions are met:

1. A retiree is working 40 or more hours during any given month (or during the payroll periods falling within that month), and
2. The work is in the same industry as the type of business activity engaged in by employers who contribute to the Plan even though his employer may not be a contribution employer (e.g. non-union), and
3. The work is at the same trade or craft in which the retiree was working when he earned benefits under the Plan. (Self-employed work as well as supervisory or managerial work can be considered as a return to work so long as the retiree is using the same skill or skills he acquired while he worked under a union collective bargaining agreement), and
4. Such employment is within the State of Michigan.

The suspension is applicable until the April 1st following the calendar year in which you reach age 70 ½. Thereafter, you may both work and receive your monthly pension.

Under the provisions of the Plan, every retiree is required to notify the Fund Office immediately if he returns to work in any capacity regardless of whether he returns to work for a non-contributing (e.g. non-union) employer or in a self-employed capacity. Failure to notify the Fund Office in a timely manner of return to work may subject the retiree to possible Suspension of his current and/or future benefits from the Pension Fund.
